Architect-designed luxury accessible lever handle

David Adjaye, one of the most important architects on the world stage, has brought his design skills to bear on this accessible handle which combines a modern, elegant aesthetic with the ease of use that is needed in an accessible handle. It is an extended version of the Ana T-lever handle, benefiting from the additional leverage that the extended lever offers. Like all izé luxury door hardware, the lever handle is available in the full range of izé materials.
